

Communication to all instructors:

RE: Winter 2020 Course Evaluation Data

We appreciate the amazing efforts of our faculty to adjust under the current circumstances due to the COVID-19 situation and we thank you all for your hard work. All of us have had to make significant changes in a short period of time to address this unprecedented global health emergency, and we know this has placed tremendous stress on our community.

It is the policy of the University of Toronto that each course be evaluated. The University is aware that some course evaluations for the Winter 2020 Term – including full year and ongoing (multi-term) courses – were or will be administered in the context of the significant changes to course structures and delivery format.

The University is advising faculty members reviewing teaching dossiers that evaluations for these course offerings should be considered in this context. In addition, a letter that confirms this message, and that can be used by all instructors at any time when their course evaluation data is reported, is available on Quercus, in the Course Evaluations tab, for instructors to download.

Sincerely,

Heather Boon, Vice-Provost, Faculty & Academic Life
